| Aims and vision of the TIG: Democracy, Religion and Culture A major purpose of education is to develop the intellectual capacity of students. This is essential to the development and presentation of democracy. Student engagement in all educational settings is greatly influenced by the religious and cultural values that students bring to the classroom. These influence relationships among students, teachers and their interaction with school and the curricula. This group will focus upon these issues as they influence curriculum design, instructional delivery and assessment The Democracy, Religion and cultural TIG values an open exchange of theoretical and practical ideas about pedagogy and teacher education. Proposals should consist of an abstract of the proposed paper (not more than 350 words), and include the names and contact information of all authors. Proposals must be submitted by e-mail no later than 1 December, 2011 to the TIG-leaders. |
